At Dewey Park Theatre.

A refined and appreciative audience greeted Manager Schloss' offering for the current week at Dewey park last night. The attraction is the Henne-Roth Co. in high-class dramatic and musical vaudeville. The co-stars especially are people of exceptional talent, and Miss Roth displayed her versatility by her portrayal of the classic roles in Shakespeare and then giving a delightful solo on the trombone, followed by a costume specialty of the popular song, "San Antonio." The singing and dancing of Miss Adrietta also caught the fancy of the audience.

In fact the entire company acquitted themselves in a most creditable manner and they deserve the liberal patronage of the public, which will, no doubt, be accorded them. There will be nightly performances all the week, with a Saturday bargain matinee for ladies and children.

SAY!

Mr. Workingman!

Do you get your hands so grimy and black that any amount of soap and water and muscle will not make them clean?

Of course you do. Every body in Barre works and anyone who works gets their hands dirty, if they don't the boss usually shows 'em the door.

Now, you can make your hands as white and clean as a preacher's if you follow our advice. Just buy a 10c box of "Skat," that celebrated cleaner, and use a little when you wash. You'll look at your hands in astonishment after you are finished.
